The iPillow can be connected to all types of electronic devices that have a headphone connection. No more uncomfortable headphones or ear buds in bed that fall out, and most importantly, no more annoying your partner or roommate with music while they are trying to sleep.

The iPillow has not been endorsed by Sound Therapy International. Should you wish to use the iPillow for Sound Therapy, you should still do most of your listening through regular headphones.

Warning: Do not sleep with the stereo headphone cable connected or wrap the cable around your neck. It may cause strangulation.
